WASHINGTON, Friday May 15.

Mr. L. L. CROUNSE, of the New-York TIMES staff on the Rappahannock, sends to this Bureau the following exceedingly interesting extracts from the Richmond Enquirer of the 13th, and Sentinel of the 14th:

From the Richmond Inquirer, May 13.

HOW JACKSON WAS WOUNDED—HIS SUFFERINGS AND DEATH—ALL THE PARTICULARS.

Gen. JACKSON, having gone some distance in front of the line of skirmishers on Saturday evening, was returning about 8 o'clock, attended by his Staff and part of his couriers. The cavalcade was in the darkness of the night mistaken for a body of the enemy's cavalry, and fired upon by a regiment of his own corps. He was struck by three balls, one through the left arm, two inches below the shoulder joint, shattering the bone and severing the chief artery; another ball passed through the same arm between the elbow and wrist, making its exit through the palm of the hand; a third ball entered the palm of the right hand about its middle, passing through, and broke two bones. He was wounded on the Plank Road, about fifty yards in advance of the enemy. He fell from his horse, and was caught by Capt. WOOMLEY, to whom he remarked, "All my wounds are by my own men." He had given orders to fire at anything coming up the road, before he left the lines. The enemy's skirmishers appeared ahead of him, and he turned to ride back. Just then some one cried out, "Cavalry, charge!" and immediately the regiment fired. The whole party broke forward to ride through our line to escape the fire. Capt. HOWARD was killed, and carried through the line by his horse, and fell among our own men. Col. CROCHERIER, Chief of Staff, was wounded by his side. Two couriers were killed. Maj. PEMBERTON, Lieuts. MANSON and SMITH, escaped uninjured. Gen. JACKSON was immediately placed on a litter and started for the rear. The firing attracted the attention of the enemy, and was returned by both lines. One litter-bearer was shot down, and the General fell from the shoulders of the men, receiving a severe contusion, adding to the injury of the arm, and injuring his side severely.

The enemy's fire of artillery on this point was terrible. Gen. JACKSON was left for five minutes, until the fire slackened; then placed in an ambulance, and carried to the field hospital at Wilderness Run. He lost a large amount of blood, and at one time told Dr. McGUIRE he thought he was dying, and would have died in death, but a tourniquet was immediately applied. For two hours he was near pulseless from the shock. As he was being carried from the field, frequent inquiries were made by the soldiers, "Who have you there?" He told the Doctor, "Do not tell the troops I am wounded."

After the reaction, a consultation was held between Drs. BLACK, CULLEN, WALLE and McGUIRE, and amputation was decided upon. He was asked, "If we find amputation necessary, shall it be done at once?" He replied, "Yes, certainly, Dr. McGUIRE—do for me whatever you think is right." The operation was performed while he was under the influence of chloroform, and was borne well. He slept on Sunday morning, was cheerful, and in every way was doing well. He sent for Mrs. JACKSON, asked minutely about the battle, spoke cheerfully of the result, and said: "If I had not been wounded, or had an hour more of daylight, I would have cut off the enemy from the road to the United States Ford, and we would have had them entirely surrounded, and they would have been obliged to surrender, or cut their way out. They had no other alternative. My troops sometimes may fail in driving the enemy from a position, but the enemy always fail to drive my men from a position." Tears was said smilingly. He complained this day of the jolt from the litter, although no contusion or abrasion was apparent as the result of the fall. He did not complain of his wounds; never spoke of them unless asked. On Sunday evening he slept well. On Monday he was carried to CHANCELLOR'S house, near Guinea' depot. He was cheerful; talked about the battle, gallant bearing of Gen. RODES, and said that his Major-General's commission ought to date from Saturday, the grand charge of his old Stonewall brigade, of which he had heard; asked after all his officers; during the day talked more than usual, and said: "Men who live through this war will be proud to say, 'I was one of the Stonewall brigade,' to their children." He insisted that the term Stonewall belonged to them, and not to him.

During the ride to Guinea he complained greatly of heat, and besides wet applications to his wounds, begged that a wet cloth be applied to his stomach, which was done, greatly to his relief, as he expressed it. He slept well on Monday night, and ate with relish the next morning. On Tuesday his wounds were doing very well. He asked, "Can you tell me, from the appearance of my wounds, how long I will be kept from the field?" He was greatly satisfied when told they were doing remarkably well. He did not complain of any pain in his side, and wanted to see the members of his Staff, but was advised not. On Wednesday his wounds looked remarkably well. He expected to go to Richmond this day, but was prevented by rain. This night, while his surgeon, who had slept none for three nights, was asleep, he complained of nausea, and ordered his boy, JIM, to place a wet towel over his stomach. This was done. About daylight the surgeon was awakened by the boy saying, "The General is in great pain." The pain was in the right side, and due to incipient pneumonia and some nervousness, which he himself attributed to the fall from the litter. On Thursday Mrs. JACKSON arrived, greatly to his joy and satisfaction, and she faithfully nursed him to the end. By Thursday evening all pain had ceased. He suffered greatly from prostration. On Friday he suffered no pain, but prostration increased.

On Sunday morning, when it was apparent that he was rapidly sinking, Mrs. JACKSON was informed of his condition. She then had free and full converse with him, and told him he was going to die. He said: "Very good; very good. It is all right." He had previously said: "I consider these wounds a blessing. They were given me for some good and wise purpose. I would not part with them if I could." He asked of Maj. PEMBERTON: "Who is preaching at headquarters to-day?" He sent messages to all the Generals. He expressed a wish to be buried in Lexington, in the valley of Virginia. During delirium his mind reverted to the battle field, and he sent orders to Gen. A. P. HILL to prepare for action, and to Maj. HAWKS, his Commissary, and to the surgeons. He frequently expressed to his aide his wish that Maj.-Gen. EWELL should be ordered to command his corps. His confidence in Gen. EWELL was very great, and the manner in which he spoke of him showed that he had duly considered the matter.

ARRIVAL OF LIEUT.-GEN. JACKSON'S REMAINS—MANIFESTATIONS OF RESPECT.

Yesterday was a sad day in Richmond. Sunday afternoon the report of Gen. JACKSON'S death was current, but though preceded by the announcement from several pulpits that the condition of the illustrious chieftain was deemed critical, no one was willing to credit the tidings of his death without full assurance of the correctness of the unwelcome news.

The city papers yesterday morning contained the sad, sad announcement, and all doubts being thus removed, gloom and sorrow pervaded the community.

In accordance with the recommendation of the Mayor, all business was suspended after 10 o'clock P. M. Between 11 and 12, a large concourse of ladies and gentlemen assembled on Broad-street to witness the arrival of the special train, expected, with the remains of the departed hero. A telegraph dispatch from Milford was however received, conveying the information that the train having been delayed at that point, would not arrive until near 4 o'clock P. M.

This information was communicated to the crowd, who soon dispersed to their homes. About 3 o'clock Broad-street and the Capitol Square were again thronged by ladies and gentlemen. At 20 minutes to 4 o'clock the train turned the curve, and the depot and other bells were tolled. In a few minutes the train arrived at the corner of Fourth-street, where it was halted. The following officers were in charge of the corpse:

Of Lieut.-Gen. JACKSON'S Staff:
Maj. S. Pendleton, Adjutant-General in charge; Dr. Hunter McGuire, Medical Director; Maj. W. J. Hawks, Lieuts. Morrison and Smith, Aids.
On part of the Army:
Major D. B. Bridgford, Capt. H. K. Douglas.
On part of Commonwealth of Virginia:
Dr. John Mayo, Aid to the Governor; Col. John C. Shields.

The coffin was covered with wreaths, placed upon it by the ladies of Ashland. With as little delay as possible, the body was removed under military escort to the Governor's Mansion, followed by, perhaps, the largest assemblage of persons ever collected within the Capitol-square.

The City Council held a special meeting yesterday forenoon, at which the following proceedings took place:

The President announced the melancholy tidings of the death of the lamented Lieut.-Gen. THOMAS J. JACKSON—spoke briefly of the invaluable services rendered to the Confederacy by the departed hero, and the duty of the Council in view of the sad event which caused his death, to pass suitable resolutions of respect to his memory.

Gen. RANSDELL said it was usual on similar occasions to appoint a Committee to draft suitable resolutions, and he would move that one be appointed to consist of three or five members, as might seem best.

The President adopting the suggestion for the larger number, appointed as said Committee, Messrs. RANSDELL, HILL, SCOTT, HARRIS, and GLASSCOCK. The Committee, after a brief retirement, returned, and, through their chairman, offered the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, By the Council of the City of Richmond, That, profoundly impressed with the great calamity sustained by the country in the death of Lieut.-Gen. THOMAS J. JACKSON, and desirous of expressing their sense of his virtues and his services in the most emphatic manner, they think that justice to his memory requires them to refrain from an attempt at eulogy, which, however, can adequately express. They leave, therefore, to others further removed from the times in which he lived, and when his public career shall have borne its full fruits, to portray character and conduct rarely equalled in the world's history.

Resolved, That they tender to his afflicted widow their most heartfelt condolence, and beg leave, as citizens of the Republic, to share in her grief for a loss alike irreparable to her and to the country.

On motion, the Council adjourned.

THE FUNERAL OF JACKSON.

The city was again, on yesterday, the scene of another tumultuous outburst of mourning, and the last offices of honor to the departed hero were performed with fitting magnificence. In no public ceremony, not even the grand display which attended the inauguration of the monument to WASHINGTON some years ago, has Richmond been rendered more memorable than upon this occasion, when every branch of the Confederate and State Governments, with an army of bronzed and hardy heroes, and the whole city pouring forth its living tribute, aged and young of both sexes, joined in the pageant and gave it all the imposing grandeur which sympathy, sorrow, love and admiration united, could bestow.

In accordance with arrangements made upon Monday, the procession was formed upon Capitol-square at 10 o'clock, stretching along Monument-avenue from the Governor's mansion, out upon Grace-street, and consisted of the following civil and military bodies:

Public guard, with armory band, followed by the Nineteenth and Fifty-sixth Virginia infantry, Major WISE'S battalion of cavalry, and the Richmond Lafayette artillery, all preceded by a full band.
Hearse drawn by four white horses, appropriately caparisoned, the hearse draped and plumed, and the coffin wrapped and decorated with flowers.
Pall-bearers, consisting of the Staff of the lamented Hero, and several other officers of high rank, wearing the insignia of mourning.
Carriages, containing—first, His Excellency the President, and the family of the deceased, followed by personal friends and distinguished admirers; various chiefs of Departments, State and Confederate; civil, military and judicial; the Mayor of the city and members of the Council.

On either side, and in the rear, an immense throng of ladies and gentlemen, children, servants and soldiers, mingled ready to move along with the procession. The banners were draped with crape, and the swords of the military officials were draped at the hilt. The artillery bore the sad insignia; the arms of the infantry were reversed; the drums were muffled, and at the given hour a gun stationed beneath the monument boomed forth the signal for motion.

Gen. GEO. W. RANDOLPH, Chief Marshal of the ceremony, proceeded to the front, and the cavalcade moved slowly out upon Governor-street, through the Mansion-gate. The bells of the city commenced tolling, and soon a melancholy dirge swelled forth in moving tones from the leading corps of musicians. The procession passed down Governor to Main-street, turning up the latter, and proceeding as far as Second-street. The streets were crowded with people; stores were closed. As the pageant moved along, and from many windows floated flags draped in mourning. The flags upon the public buildings remained as on Monday, at half-mast. The scene on Main-street was beyond adequate description, so impressive, so beautiful, so full of stirring associations, blending with the martial dirges of the bands, the gleam of musket, rifle and sabre drawn, the sheen of black cannon, thousands of throbbing hearts, and the soul of sorrow that manified over all. From Second-street, through which the procession partly passed, it wheeled into Grace-street, down which it returned to Capitol-square, entering by Monument Gate. At different stages of the obsequies the cannon, which remained stationed at the foot of the monument, pealed out in tones of thunder, which heightened the effect of the tolling bells, the solemn music, and the grand display.

The hearse being drawn up in front of the Capitol, the coffin was removed to the Hall of the House of Representatives, where it was laid in state in front of the Speaker's seat. Thousands crowded into the building, many bearing splendid bouquets with which to adorn the coffin, and at night hundreds were turned away, after hours of fruitless efforts, without seeing the face of the beloved departed warrior. The remains will be sent to Lexington this morning. All the Courts in Richmond passed resolutions of respect to the memory of JACKSON, and adjourned to attend the ceremonies.

OUR DEAD HERO.

Since the death of WASHINGTON, no similar event has so profoundly and sorrowfully impressed the people of Virginia as the death of JACKSON. The surprise and admiration with which his earlier feats in the war were regarded had long since ripened into cordial gratitude for his services, boundless confidence in his capacity, enthusiastic affection for his person, and sincere veneration for his character. They had come, too, to regard him as one of those men of destiny who have a mission to fulfill, and who bear a charmed life. The Providence on which he so firmly relied had seemed to shield him from harm, and there was a sort of superstitious faith that he would pass unscathed through all dangers, to the end. They were not, therefore, prepared for the cruel mischance that struck him down, and still less for the fatal result which has so speedily followed. There is not one loyal heart in all this Commonwealth—not one in all this Confederacy, that has not, or will not, sicken and sink with grief at his fall. Were it possible to restore him, we believe there are thousands who would give their own lives to ransom him from the captivity of death.

For all this love for him living and all this grief for him dead, there was reason enough; for in the great struggle which now engages hearts and hands, he was himself a power equal to many regiments of armed men. He had thrown into it the energies of a mighty spirit, the resources of a great intellect. What others did or attempted from impulses of ambition, patriotism, or sense of duty, he did from compulsion of conscience, and a reverential conviction of obligation to his Maker. He did it with all the strength of mind, soul and body. So actuated, he thought not of consequences to himself, of dangers to be encountered, or glory to be won—and so acting, he left nothing undone that was possible of accomplishment.

There is no need now to rehearse his deeds; they are fresh in the memories of all. But, memorable as those deeds are, and destined to become lessons for military students for ages to come, it was not perhaps so much what, in his brief, but crowded career, he accomplished, as the manner in which he did whatever most difficult feat lay before, and the ability he thus manifested for more arduous and momentous achievements, that explains the wonderful growth of his fame, and will give him a place in history amid the most renowned heroes and captains of all ages.

The old mother State that bore him is not sterile, the Confederacy for which he fought is fruitful of men, but it is not to be expected that this war will produce or this generation see one who in all respects will fill the great space he has left void. Others may have his genius to devise, others his energy to execute, others his purity of life, and others his stern and solemn self-consecration to the cause, but we may hope in vain to find all these united in one, and their potency so felt by his men as that, his will moving and his spirit animating all, they should become, as JACKSON'S men were, the very limbs of his body, moving and acting as he willed, almost without conscious volition of their own.

Still, let none suppose that because this great soldier will no more lead his invincible battalions against the merciless and murderous invaders of our country, we shall be unable to defend ourselves against the hosts who muster for our destruction. The same Providence that gave us JACKSON still rules the affairs of men, and though He has taken the mighty chieftain from us, He leaves us his illustrious example to follow and his grand spirit to fire every heart and nerve every arm. The men who for two years have felt the influence of such a presence, whose hearts burn with glowing memories of what he was, will never yield to mortal foe. JACKSON, though dead, will still fight in the men whom he so often led to victory.

PROPOSED STATUE TO JACKSON.

The Richmond Sentinel, of the 14th, says that measures are already initiated to obtain a bronze statue of the late Gen. JACKSON, and place it on the plateau in front of the south portico of the Capitol.

The remains of Gen JACKSON were conveyed to the Central care yesterday, en route to his late home in Lexington. They were accompanied by several members of his Staff and personal friends.

THE LATE BATTLES.

From the Richmond Whig, May 13.

THE SPOILS.

From every side we hear that the spoils left by HOOKER'S army exceed those on any previous battle-field, not excepting the engagements around Richmond. Not only an immense number of small arms—variously estimated from 30,000 to 50,000—but an almost infinite quantity of overcoats, knapsacks, caps and blankets. An idea of the spoils may be gathered from the statement made to us by an artillery officer in regard to the men of his battery. He says that the country is so strewn with blankets, &c., that his men in marching from one field to another, since the late battles, have never cumbered themselves with anything, being satisfied that wherever they may camp for the night a plenty of blankets and overcoats will be found. Shall these things be gathered up, or thrown away, left to rot, or to be collected by negroes and citizens, who, after all the trouble of getting them together, are to be insulted for so doing? We trust most sincerely that Quartermaster MYERS will show a proper efficiency in this important matter.

THE WOUNDED.

The worst wounded come in last. Let our citizens remember this. At GUINEA'S matters have not been as well managed as they ought to have been. There seems to have been a delay. We hear of a large train of wounded, crowded inside and out, remaining there the whole night in the rain, when the track was open all the way to Richmond. This is too bad.

CONDITION OF THE RAILROAD.

The Sentinel announces that trains are now running to Milford depot, on the Fredericksburgh Railroad. Milford is near the Mattapony River.

THE REBEL LOSSES.

The Enquirer and Sentinel both publish in detail extensive lists of killed and wounded. They show that the slaughter of their troops was far greater than ours. The following losses are stated:

Hays' Louisiana Brigade—Fifth Louisiana, 75; Sixth Louisiana, 182; Seventh Louisiana, 118; Eighth Louisiana, 170; Ninth Louisiana, 116. Total 662, or one-third of the total number in action.

NICHOLLS'S Louisiana Brigade—First Louisiana, 50; Second Louisiana, 126; Tenth Louisiana, 86; Fifteenth Louisiana, 104; Fourteenth Louisiana, 81: General's staff, 1. Total—448.

PERRY'S Mississippi brigade lost 350; the Sixty-first Virginia, 41; Third Alabama, 225—making an aggregate loss of 9 hitherto unheard and missing, in three brigades and two regiments, 1737.

In A. P. HILL'S division the following casualties occurred among General officers: Gen. A. P. HILL, wounded; Gen. THOMAS, killed; Brig.-Gens. McGOWAN and HARR, wounded.

AFFAIRS AT CHARLESTON.

The following is from Charleston, under date of May 12th:

The enemy is showing unusual activity. He has built large and formidable batteries on Folly Island, bearing upon the Southern extremity of Morris Island. Several Yankee regiments are also fortifying on Seabrook Island.

Five iron-clads and numerous transports are still in the North Edisto, and seventy transports remain at Port Royal.

The steamer Britain, with merchandise, has arrived through the blockade. She started from Nassau on Thursday, in company with the steamer Norman, which has not yet been heard from. The steamer Pet, from Wilmington, had arrived at Nassau. The steamers Calypso and Antonica were also there, about to sail.

AFFAIRS AT WILMINGTON.

WILMINGTON, Wednesday, May 13.

The steamers Basha and Pet arrived this morning from Nassau.

FROM BRAGG'S ARMY.

TULLAHOMA, Tuesday, May 12.

Gen. BRAGG reviewed the Northern Alabama troops yesterday. He addressed them briefly in highly complimentary term. He gave a spirited and encouraging account of the situation in front, and expressed the ardent hope that they may meet an attack of the enemy. He leaves to-day to inspect the front. All quiet.

GEN. BURNSIDE.

The Enquirer has a savage article on Gen. BURNSIDE, for his order against spies and traitors at home, and condoles with VALLANDIGHAM in his "persecution."

THE KILLING OF GEN. VAN DORN.

The Chattanooga Rebel says: "As yet we have received no particulars of the killing of Gen. VAN DORN, nor of the causes which led to it, other than from street rumors, which, if correct, would seem that the killing was justifiable. Dr. PETERS, who killed him, was formerly State Senator from Hardeman County, in this State, and is a gentleman of wealth, position and influence, whose family connections rank with the first in Tennessee. He is reported to have approached Gen. VAN DORN in the street, and, presenting a pistol, shot him in the head."

THE NEW REBEL TAX LAW.

The heavy taxes in Dixie are telling on the business men. Witness the following advertisement from the Whig:

DISSOLUTION.—In consequence of the very heavy taxes, we have deemed it best to close our business. The copartnership of P. M. TADE & Son has, therefore, been dissolved by mutual consent, either party being authorized to use the name of the concern in settlement.

FROM THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

A Tribute to the Retiring Troops.

WASHINGTON, Friday, May 15.

The following handsome tribute to the retiring troops is promulgated to-day:

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, NEAR FALMOUTH, May 12, 1863.

GENERAL ORDER No. 50.—The Major-General commanding desires to express to the troops leaving this army, by reason of the expiration of their term of service, his appreciation of their efforts and devotion. The record of their deeds, while it will prove a proud recollection in future days, will live in history, and in the memory of their comrades, who still continue to serve the country and its cause in the honorable and glorious profession of arms.

The Major-General Commanding directs that copies of this order be furnished to each regiment that has left or is about to leave the army, and he desires that the same be promulgated to the troops, with his best wishes for their welfare. May the same spirit which prompted them to respond to the call of duty and honor remain forever in their hearts, and be transmitted a proud legacy to their descendants.

By command of Maj.-Gen. HOOKER.

S. WILLIAMS, A. A. G.

OUR SPECIAL ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

The Recent Sensation Rumors Regarding the Army—Mendacious Statements—A Review of Some of the Recent Movements, &c.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Thursday, May 14, 1863.

If the Northern public has fed upon the sensation rumors regarding this army for the past week, it must now be suffering from a severe fit of indigestion. Never was there a more deliberately false coinage of statements put forth, without the slightest shadow of foundation, than issued from the Philadelphia newspaper offices on Saturday night last, and were followed up on Sunday and Monday by correspondence from Washington, going in detail movements never contemplated for one moment by this army. The most criminal of all these mendacious statements is the correspondence of the Philadelphia Press, from Washington, Sunday, May 10, and reproduced in the New-York papers of the 12th. The correspondence is almost entirely deliberate falsehood from beginning to end, and the writer was either most egregiously humbugged, or else sought to deceive the public by a series of unmitigated sensations.

Of the same character are the so-called "official dispatches" from Gen. HOOKER, which were reproduced in the New-York evening papers of the 11th, and were said to have been brought to Washington on Saturday by the steamer John A. Warner. They were cobbed out of whole cloth, and had no more foundation than any of the others.

These things not only barely deceive the public, and produce a despondent feeling when the reaction comes, but they seriously injure the army and produce bad blood and hard feeling among men and officers, for they can see no possible excuse for the utterance of such falsehoods. It is high time that the Government put the set of charlatans and sensation-mongers in Washington and Philadelphia under the same rigid rule to which honesty, and truth and legitimate enterprise have always been subjected.

In consequence of the carelessness of the messenger to whom it was intrusted, an important letter from your correspondent, giving the details of the rapid movement of our column on the right from Kelly's Ford to Chancellorsville, was delayed so long that its entire publication became inappropriate. This letter, however, contained several important facts which have not yet become fully known, and which should be fully stated now, as they emphatically refute several malignant Copperhead lies already in circulation, and likewise that Gens. SLOCUM, HOWARD, MEADE and WARREN, who conducted the rapid movement, should receive full credit for their energy and enterprise.

Gens. SLOCUM and HOWARD, with two corps, marched from Aquia Creek and Stafford Court-house on Monday morning: on Thursday following, at noon, their troops were at Chancellorsville, having in an average time of three and a half days marched an average distance of sixty-one miles. Gen. MEADE'S corps left camp at Stoneman's Station, at 1 P. M. of Monday, April 27, and marched via Kelley's and Ely's Fords to Chancellorsville, arriving there at 10 A. M. of Thursday, May 30, having marched in an average time of less than three days, an average distance of forty-eight miles. This includes all the halts, stoppages and rests on the march, as well as the fact that each of these corps laid in the vicinity of Kelley's Ford, an average of eight to twelve hours, while the bridge was being built, and while their predecessors were crossing. So that the real marching time, exclusive of all long halts or stoppages, does not exceed two and a half days. And in this march two of the largest rivers in Virginia were crossed, and during fully half of the time rain fell unceasingly.

Such marching has not yet been known in this war, and seldom in any other. The fording of the Rapidan by Gens. SLOCUM and HOWARD at Germanna, and Gen. MEADE at Ely's Ford, is among the most brilliant achievements of the war, and even though subsequent events cannot be considered without a feeling of disappointment, yet these facts deserve to be known for the honor of those who deserve honor. The concentration of the two columns at Chancellorsville took place within two hours of the time anticipated by Gen. HOOKER.

Gen. MEADE, be it known, swung his whole corps across the Rapidan, by the ford, pack mule trains, artillery and all, the water being waist deep. The column was led by the Forty-fourth New-York, who volunteered to test the ford.

Gen. SLOCUM made a rapid movement upon Germanna Ford, and captured nearly the entire force of bridge builders there, a detachment of ANDERSON'S rebel division, who were engaged in rebuilding the long and fine bridge over the Rapidan at that point. This bridge being thus under military construction was very strong evidence of the intention of the enemy to commence some sort of offensive operations.

The Germanna Mills Ford is one of the worst on the Rapidan—deep, rapid current, and rough, rocky bottom. But Gen. SLOCUM at once pushed forward WILLIAMS' division, which forded the stream, while Gen. KANE, with the One Hundred and Twenty-third New York, who volunteered for the service, gallantly constructed a foot bridge at the base of the piers, in the remarkably short space of three hours, by which all of the rest of the troops, including HOWARD'S corps, and all the saddle horses and pack mules, were safely passed over the river dry shod.

It is too late to dwell upon the remarkable beauty and grandeur of this scene, which was brilliantly illuminated that night by large fires upon the piers and abutments of the bridge, and upon the banks of the river.

These facts, which are now history, emphatically refute the malicious lie, of later date, that the Army of the Potomac "marched six miles in thirty-six hours."

The intense interest with which the public regards everything pertaining to this army and its recent conflicts, justifies me in setting forth as distinctly and plainly as possible, all the facts of this nature of which I am cognizant. There are others of an equally important nature which deserve and will receive similar attention.

The Last of our Wounded Brought Over the River—The Severe Losses of the Rebels—State of Feeling between the two Armies.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Thursday, May 14, 1863.

Lieuts. WOOD, ROACH and WEARE, of the Ambulance corps, who have been engaged on the opposite side of the river in securing the wounded of the Sixth corps, returned yesterday, having seen the last man over. They have been treated very kindly by the rebel authorities, and every assistance has been rendered them in getting the wounded to this side of the river.

A general depression exists among the rebels consequent upon the death of Stonewall JACKSON. The Richmond Examiner says, that his presence was equal to fifty thousand men to an army. "He was the main spoke in our wheel, the second WASHINGTON," remarked the Major of the Ninth Alabama, yesterday. The severe losses incurred in the late series of engagements have caused the rebels to be anything but jubilant over their partial success. The loss of eighteen thousand men falls much heavier, in a military point view, upon them than upon us. The sweeping conscription acts have carried all the available war material into the ranks, and every man now counts as he has not before.

The body of Lieut. RESSINE, (nephew of Judge GOULD,) of the Thirty-third New-York, was secured, brought over, embalmed, and has been forwarded to Washington. His sword, vest and hat had been removed, but $165 of Treasury notes in his pocket remained untouched.

The rebels are remarkably well clothed this Spring. A Captain, a nephew of Gen. BARKSDALE, stated that a cargo of sixty thousand military suits arrived at a Southern port a few days since, and were all consigned to the Army of the Potomac.

Gen. LEE is now in Fredericksburgh, where he has taken up his abode for the present. Gen. BARKSDALE, of Mississippi, one of the original fire-eaters, has command of the place.

Drs. JAMES and CHANDLER, of the Vermont brigade, who crossed the river on Friday last to attend to the wants of our wounded, and were detained by the rebels to administer to their own wounded, were allowed to return to this side yesterday. On learning that the Chaplain of the Twentieth New-York Volunteers was a surgeon also, they refused to parole him, but compelled him to remain, availing themselves of his professional services. Rebel surgeons, officers and privates alike, speak in grateful terms of the care bestowed by us upon their wounded falling into our hands.

The bitter animosity which existed between the respective armies at the commencement of the war, has to a great extent disappeared. Said one of the guards to the ambulance Lieutenants, as they were crossing the river for the last time, "It seems now as if I could nohow raise my gun to shoot you any more." The drivers were permitted to bring back all the medical stores which the surgeons did not use.

The Twenty-fifth New-York, Col. JOHNSON, (KEARNEY'S old regiment,) is now under arrest for refusing to do further duty.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Friday, May 15.

THE CONSCRIPTION LAW.

The thirteenth section of the Conscription law to-day received an interpretation, and substantially a warlike adjudication. On the representation of influential citizens of Illinois, that the acceptance of $300 from drafted men, in lieu of service, throughout the West would degenerate the enrollment measure and defeat the intent to raise an army, Secretary STANTON is understood to have decided that the section was permissive, and not mandatory; that it is optional with him to receive the money or reject it; that he is not a National treasurer; that he gives no bond for the safe-keeping of money; has no financial officers under him; has no means of enforcing security for the immense sums his subordinates would receive on this commutation of military service, and has no time to go into the business of hunting up substitutes. Solicitor WHITING, of the War Department, is understood to concur in these views. The President is also understood to concur in their lawfulness and policy. The clause of the act selling exemptions at $300, therefore, will practically be ignored. Conscripts will either be left to hunt up our substitutes at their own price, or the plan will be adopted of calling for an equal number of volunteers at the time the draft is ordered, to be accepted only as substitutes for drafted men, and receive a Government bounty of $100, and the conscript's price of exemption besides. Any way, the Enrollment law will not be a revenue measure, but a war measure.

A DESERTER.

J. B. GILFEATHER deserted from the Third Alabama, and came into our lines night before last. He belonged to Kansas' brigade. He is a native of Frankfort, Penn., where his parents now reside. He says the rebel troops are mostly back in their old encampments. His regiment has but 150 men for duty. It lost 225 in the late action. The rebel officers' estimate of their loss is 35,000. The death of JACKSON had a great effect on the troops. Provisions are scarce. The ration is one pound two ounces of flour and a quarter pound of bacon per day. The divisions of Gens. HOOD and PICKETT have arrived from the Blackwater since the battle. A rumor prevailed in the enemy's camp, several days ago, that we were crossing at Raccoon Ford, and the troops were under marching orders. The enemy has now a large force in that direction.

A REBEL BANKER ARRESTED.

WM. T. SNYDER, a rebel banker here, was nabbed to-day by the detectives, and sent to the Old Capitol Prison, for dealing in Confederate money, &c.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Friday, May 15.

CONSUL AT KINGSTON.

Judge F. H. RUGGLES, of New-York, has been appointed Consul at Kingston, Jamaica.

PROVOST-MARSHAL.

Provost-Marshal General FRY has issued a notice that Provost-Marshals and members of the Board of Enrollment will be considered as declining their appointments unless they immediately notify him of their acceptance and readiness to enter at once upon their duties, the acceptance to be forwarded by telegraph whenever practicable.

A CAPTURE.

The United States steamer Chocura reports the seizure, on the 4th inst., of the sloop Express, from Nassau, N. P., bound to Wilmington, N. C., with a cargo of salt. She had no flag, clearance, register, manifest or sea letters. She was owned in South Carolina.

FROM THE ARMY.

The only information from the Army of the Potomac is that all is quiet, and that Gen. HOOKER has returned from his visit to Washington.

A VISIT TO THE PRESIDENT.

A delegation from the Philadelphia Union League had an interview with the President to-day.

Official Advices from Gen. Grant to the 8th.

HIS POSITION SATISFACTORY.

PORT HUDSON NEARLY EVACUATED.

Heavy Reinforcements Going Forward for Gen. Grant.

Our Cavalry Operating on the Railroad Below Jackson.

WASHINGTON, Friday, May 15.

The Star says a dispatch was this forenoon received here from Gen. GRANT, dated the 8th inst., which shows that the Cairo dispatch, of the 12th, and the Jackson, Miss., (rebel,) dispatch of the 6th, were positively untrue, the former having represented that he had beaten BOWEN'S rebel army on the 6th inst., and the latter that BOWEN'S army had repulsed him on the 4th. In the dispatch of the 8th inst. he expresses satisfaction with the appearance of matters in the vicinity, and states that Port Hudson is undoubtedly evacuated, except by a small garrison and their heavy artillery.

CAIRO, Thursday, May 14.

Adjutant-Gen. THOMAS arrived at Memphis on the 12th.

He had organized ten regiments of negroes, and expected to organize ten more.

Our troops, all the way from Memphis to Young's Point, are moving to reinforce Gen. GRANT.

Judge KELLOGG, who left Gen. GRANT'S headquarters on Thursday last, says the report of a fight at Clinton, Miss., is untrue. Gen. GRANT will endeavor to cut the railroad between Vicksburgh and Jackson, and a battle is expected in the vicinity of Big Black River bridge.

The Jackson Appeal says Gen. BOWEN'S loss at Bayon Pierre was about 1,000. The rebel killed and wounded were left on the field. Gen. TAILOR, Lieut.-Col. PIERCE and Maj. TOURNEMAN were killed, and Col. GARNER and Maj. HULBERT severely wounded.

The Vicksburgh correspondent of the Appeal takes a gloomy view of matters. He says Gen. GRANT'S movement deceived both our people and military men.

Gen. BRAGG was at Atlanta, Ga., on the 2d inst.

A dispatch from Richmond says railroad connection has been reestablished between Richmond and Fredericksburgh.

THE LATEST REBEL REPORTS.

JACKSON, Miss., Monday, May 11.

One thousand of GRANT'S cavalry entered and burned Crystal Springs, on the New-Orleans Railroad, to-day at 12 o'clock.

SECOND DISPATCH.

JACKSON, Monday, May 11.

The enemy are fortifying at Rocky Springs and Western Springs. Gen. OSTERHAUS is at Cayugs, with a hundred and fifty cavalry and six or seven regiments of infantry. The enemy are reinforcing at Willow Springs and Rocky Springs, from the river.

GRANT will probably advance east, and not direct to Vicksburgh.

VICKSBURGH, Monday, May 11.

Nothing of importance has transpired to-day. A barge laden with coal ran past the batteries last night. The enemy's fleet above the city is increasing.

THE WAR IN TENNESSEE.

The Recent Fight on the Cumberland—The Rebels Commanded by Morgan.

LOUISVILLE, Friday, May 15.

Col. JACOB, in Sunday's fight with the rebels CLARKE and CHENAULT, at Horseshoe Bottom Narrows, on the Cumberland, lost 42 men, including 3 officers. Capt. CHENAULT, and several other rebel officers, and 96 of their men were killed, and 3 taken prisoners.

Gen. JOHN H. MORGAN was in command with nine regiments, aggregating 4,000 men, which are still on the south side of the Cumberland, only small squads having crossed at different points.

Col. GRAHAM, at Glasgow, killed several rebels and drove 200 to the south side of the Cumberland on Wednesday.

There is no considerable force of rebels on the north side of that river. MORGAN'S proposed raid into Kentucky has been defeated by the forces of Cols. BOYLE and HELMAN, and the Twentieth Michigan regiment, under Col. JACOB, at the Narrows.

A Deserter Shot—The Cumberland River Falling.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Friday, May 15.

Private JULIUS MILKE, of the Tenth Michigan infantry, was shot, at noon to-day, for desertion.

The river is falling. There is five feet of water on the shoals.

NEWS FROM FORTRESS MONROE.

Flag-of-Truce Boats—The Third New-York Volunteers.

FORTRESS MONROE, Thursday, May 14.

Several flag-of-truce boats are due from City Point. None had arrived up to 4 o'clock this afternoon.

The Third New-York Volunteers, Col. ALFORD, still continues its organization, although the terms of enlistment of more than half its members have expired. It still has more than 700 men on duty, and its officers deserve great credit for their energy in reorganizing and recruiting the regiment from its old members.

Military Executions.

SANDUSKY, O., Friday, May 15.

Two prisoners, T. P. MCGRAW and WILLIAM COSGRIF, sentenced to suffer death by a Court-martial at Cincinnati, were executed on Johnson's Island near Sandusky, at 1:40, this afternoon. They were both killed at the first fire, and died without a struggle. Their bodies were delivered to their friends from Kentucky by order of Gen. BURNSIDE.

Five prisoners who have been sentenced to death, and are ordered to be executed on the 20th inst., arrived here this evening.

Accident to Gen. McNeill.

CAPE GIRARDEAU, Friday, May 15.

Gen. MCNEILL was wounded in the hip this morning, by the accidental discharge of the pistol of one of his Aids. His wound is not serious, but it will prevent his taking the field for several weeks.

A REVIEW OF THE CHARLESTON STRUGGLE.

The Iron-Clads as Viewed from the Army—Important Letter.

The following letter is from an officer now holding an important position in the Department of the South. It was written to a friend at Washington, who holds a place high in the President's confidence; and has been communicated to us as an interesting view of the iron-clad question from the standpoint of a practical officer. The letter, we may add, was not written for publication; though its importance fully justifies its being presented to our readers.

HILTON HEAD, S. C., April 25, 1863.

MY DEAR ——: Our friend, Col. —— showed me one paragraph of your letter to him, in which you referred, somewhat with asperity, to the fact that the attack on Charleston by the iron-clads should have been discontinued "when so few casualties had occurred." This is so obvious a reflection on the first hasty view of the affair, and yet so radically false when we look calmly at the facts, that in Col. ——'s absence, (he has gone to St. Augustine and Fernandina,) I will venture to occupy your time with a few moments on the subject.

In ordinary warfare, the amount of casualties will give a fair idea of the strength of the resistance, and the power and firmness of the attack. With wooden vessels your remark—and I know it to be an all but universal one—would apply with truth; and it is because we have all become so accustomed to measure battles on land or sea by the amount of blood spilled, that we err so often in judging an entirely unknown and unprecedented battle by the ordinary or common standard. Let me now submit some points:

First—It is to be borne in mind that this (so far as the navy was concerned) was purely an experiment, as to the possibility of taking a city by machinery. The Monitors might be called blood-saving machines, with this penalty attached to them, that whenever the loss of life should begin, it would involve the inevitable destruction of every man on board. The number of men in the whole iron-clad squadron was less than a regiment; and these few hundred men, rushing against forty or fifty thousand, were to have no other part in the fight than to supply the necessary power for working the machines. If Charleston were to fall, it was by machinery; and the moment the experiment was tested to the point of proving that the machines were inadequate to their work, it was wisdom to withdraw them, and would have been dangerous hardiness to have held them longer exposed.

Second—The experiment was fully prosecuted up to this point with a magnificence of gallantry before which, as a spectator, I bowed in reverence. The machines were untried, and the conflict was the first practical test we have ever had of the power of the new kinds of ordnance and ordnance material employed against them. I refer to the Blakely and Whitworth English guns, firing steel bolts and steel-pointed shot. The warfare was almost as new to the Admiral and his Captains as it would have been to you or myself—new kinds of projectiles raining on him from above; vast torpedoes known to be underneath the keels, and with every channel of entrance blocked with single rows of torpedo-armed obstructions.

Third—After less than an hour's conflict, five out of the eight Monitors were disabled—the Keokuk sinking. Behind the forts, calmly waiting their opportunity, lay three of the enemy's iron-clads in plain sight; vessels not able in fair fight to live an hour before one of our Monitors, but held in readiness to sallies out and capture any Monitor disabled by the artillery practice of the forts and batteries. This should not be lost sight of.

Fourth—With two or three of our vessels of this kind disabled, captured, repaired, and in the enemy's service, what force would it require to maintain the blockade of Charleston? Wooden vessels—our gunboats and steam-sloops—would be useless; and our iron vessels could not live outside of Charleston Bar in rough weather. Nor even if they could, unless we had enough of them to cross fire over every inch of the mouth of the harbor permanently, could a blockade be maintained against the fast clipper steamers built as blockade runners in English shipyards? In a word, the enemy with a single Monitor of ours could drive every wooden boat from the blockade, and would practically "have raised the blockade."

Fifth—Could we afford to have Charleston a free port—the greatest free port in the world when viewed as the only outlet and inlet for the commerce of eight millions of people, with arms and all other requisites pouring into it unmolested, and cotton pouring out? Would not such an event, of necessity—I mean a moral and political necessity—have compelled France, and perhaps other wavering foreign Powers, to acknowledge the Confederacy? Are we in a position to hazard these consequences lightly?

Sixth—Bear in mind that the weakness of the Monitor turrets was increasing in geometrical ratio under the force of each concussion. Each bolt started, each plate cracked, each stanchion bent by the first ball, left weaker protection against the second; and the second transmitted this deterioration increased by its own impact to the third. Thus onward, the element of the calculation being that 300 guns, worked with every advantage of space and facility, were arrayed against 22 guns cramped up in delicate machines, and requiring to be fired just at the exact right moment of rotation.

Seventh—Fort Sumter itself, we should not forget, was but the fire-focus of two long, converging lines of forts and batteries; and, while, for aggressive purposes, and from its position, its armament was more to be dreaded than that of any other work—the fort itself, being built of masonry fully exposed to fire, was the most pregnable point in the harbor; not would its fall have terminated the contest, nor given long further ease to the iron-clads than the withdrawal of so many guns from against them. Their work was still before them in silencing the other forts, and removing the triple line of powerful and cunningly devised obstructions.

The foregoing are only a few of the most prominent suggestions to be used in forming a right estimate of the struggle. Busy and overworked as I am, I could not rest until my very utmost was done to let you see this affair from the standpoint of a deeply interested spectator, who had given some thought and observation to the problem, and who certainly has no other interest in this matter than to see that no injustice is done to brave, true patriots whom he honors—honors with his whole heart and soul.

Now I should have felt it in the Weehawken (which was the van) I do not know; but suppose that pride and the busy sense of duty and responsibility would have held me firm to my work; but only a spectator, with no cares to distract my attention, I am not ashamed to say that I trembled like a leaf for the gallant souls on board the Weehawken, when she first entered into the hell-made-visible fronting and around Fort Sumter.

Earnestly begging you to reflect on the points in this letter, and to use them in any quarter where you think they can do good, or help in the slightest degree to remove misconceptions, I will only further tax my injured eyesight sufficiently to assure you of my with many pleasant memories of the kindness you have heretofore shown me, I am your very sincere friend and servant,

Printing Paper from Europe.

From the Sunday Atlas.

The Daily TIMES is now printed on very fine white paper, manufactured in Belgium, and purchased in that country at seven and a half cents per pound. After paying the duty of twenty per cent., freight, insurance, commissions, and the present high rate of exchange, this paper was laid at the door of the TIMES office in this City at a less cost than sixteen cents a pound. The TIMES people gave the order for this paper when our paper-makers were demanding twenty-four cents a pound for an article of no better quality.

From the Troy Whig.

The New-York TIMES paper is now manufactured in Belgium, and bought there for seven and a half cents per pound. At the time the order was made, better paper was selling here for 22@24 cents. The paper imported by the TIMES, paid $4,500 duties, yet the paper is cheap. Future combination of papers will lead to large importations from abroad.

From the Boston Journal.

The New-York TIMES is printed upon the paper which its proprietors imported from Belgium. It is of excellent quality, and cost there but 7 and 7½ cents per pound. The duties and exchange bring the price up to 14 cents, which is less than the present price of the same quality of paper here.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Loyal National League.

The ladies desiring to perfect a National League held a meeting at Dr. Cummins' Church yesterday afternoon to complete their organization. Miss SUSAN B. ANTHONY presided, and there was a large audience present. Both Miss ANTHONY and Mrs. STANTON took occasion to state fully and frankly that while they could not pledge themselves to an unconditional loyalty to the Government, and were loyal only to "freedom and humanity," they did not wish to stand in the way if a larger and more effective League could be formed without them.

Mrs. LOVELAND was anxious to see a Union formed that would strengthen the hands of the Government, and indorse its various measures—especially the Conscription act.

Miss WILLARD thought they might promise to sustain the Government now, and if any event occurred that rendered that duty unpleasant they could change their constitution. Even the Constitution of our country could be changed.

Mrs. SPENCE—And improved.

Mrs. WELL—I hope so.

Miss WILLARD further said she thought that Mr. LINCOLN was the Moses to lead us out of Egypt.

A lady suggested that they did not promise to pledge themselves to loyalty a hundred years hence. They only acted for the present.

Mrs. McCHESNEY disapproved of the President's course in keeping in office men like Gen. BANKS, who had acted, she said, in the interest of Slavery.

Mrs. STANTON remarked that there could be no loyalty outside of humanity, and that in their proposition to be loyal, they could not but mean Anti-Slavery.

Mrs. WELLS asked whether they could be loyal to a Government which they proposed to distrust at the outset?

The pledge was adopted, as follows:

PLEDGE.

We, the loyal women of ——, do hereby pledge ourselves loyal to justice and humanity, and to the Government, in so far as it makes the war for freedom.

The following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we hail the Conscription act as necessary for the salvation of the country, and cheerfully resign to it our husbands, lovers, brothers and sons.

At the suggestion of Mrs. STANTON, the word "just" was stricken out before Conscription act.

Mrs. SPENCE wanted to know whether they meant to encourage their husbands, lovers and friends to go or pay the $300 bounty?

Mrs. STANTON said we will urge them to go into it as a position of glory.

There was some further discussion as to whether the Conscription act was consistent with freedom, or as to whether Copperheads would fight. To the latter inquiry Mrs. LOVELAND replied in the affirmative—saying that men who could so brave the contumely of the community would be sure to fight well. [Applause.]

After a long and interesting appeal to the army, prepared by Mrs. WELL, had been read, and, at the suggestion of Mrs. LOVELAND, amended so as to recognize the services of the navy, another discussion arose as to the objects of the Society, which were finally defined in the following resolution, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the objects of this Society shall be to educate the nation into the true idea of a Christian Republic.

The meeting then formally signed the pledge, subscribed money, elected Mrs. ELIZABETH CADY STANTON, President, and Miss SUSAN B. ANTHONY, Secretary, and transacted other routine business.

American Bible Society.

The forty-seventh annual meeting of the American Bible Society took place at Irving Hall on Thursday morning. Hon. LUTHER BRADISH occupied the Chair; and among those on the platform were Maj.-Gen. George B. McClellan, Bishops Mellvaine and Janes, Rev. Dr. Adams, Rev. Dr. Spring, Rev. Dr. Dewitt, Rev. Dr. Skinner, Wm. E. Dodge, and others of note. Rev. Dr. SPRING opened the proceedings with prayer; after which the annual reports were read by HENRY FISHER, Esq., Assistant Treasurer, and Rev. Dr. HOLBROOK. The following is the

ABSTRACT OF REPORT.

During the year, the late Senior Secretary, Rev. Dr. BRIGHAM, has been removed by death. Two Vice-Presidents have also died—Hon. EDWARD A. NEWTON and Hon. ELISHA WHITTLESEY.

Hon. LUTHER BRADISH has been Elected President of the Society.

Rev. Dr. Wm. J. R. TAYLOR has been elected one of the Corresponding Secretaries.

Six new auxiliaries have been recognized.

The receipts of the year from all sources were $429,588, of which $139,611·31 were from sale of books.

Fifty-seven Life Directors were made during the year, and 1,344 life members.

Books printed at the Bible House, 1,198,881; books issued, 1,200,117, making an aggregate since the formation of the Society of 17,353,718.

Of the Bible Society Record, 434,900 have been issued, being 36,241 monthly.

The donations the past year, in books and money, amount to $138,563 56.

NEW BOOKS.—Minion Bible, without references; Pearl Bible, without references; Minion Bible, without accessories of any kind, for the Army; the Gospel of Luke, in Benga. Plates are in preparation for a Spanish Bible, a French Pocket Testament, a Syriac Pocket Testament, and a Pearl Pocket Testament, English; also, a letter-press edition of the Book of Genesis in Benga.

AGENTS.—Twenty-four Agents are employed at home and three abroad, besides colporters and distributers, in Italy, Germany, Bulgaria, Egypt, Brazil, &c., &c.

GRANTS OF MONEY have been made for printing and circulating the Holy Scriptures in Spanish America, Italy, Turkey, China, Germany, India, Africa, &c., to the amount of $31,356; and $44,750 more are appropriated, but not yet paid.

A very large proportion of the issues of the year have been distributed in the army and navy, among prisoners of war, refugees, people of color, and in the Southern and Border States.

The following resolutions were in turn adopted:

Resolved, That the report, an abstract of which has been read, be published under the direction of the Managers.

Resolved, That every year's fresh experience of the efficacy of the Bible furnishes new proof that it is the Word of God, and is an incentive to increased zeal in the dissemination of its blessed pages.

Resolved, That the ever-renewed attempt of the skeptic to invalidate the authority of the Christian Scriptures, if successful, would remand the human race to ignorance, vice and barbarism; and that, therefore, it is the duty of every friend of religion and human civilization, both to maintain their authority and promote their circulation.

Resolved, That our good old English Bible, unrivaled as a translation of God's Word, speaking so strongly to the heart of the English speaking peoples, destined to share and mould the aggressive movement of the race, should be cherished as a rich inheritance from our forefathers, and transmitted unimpaired to posterity.

Resolved, That Christianity is the ultimate religion for men; and that Christ's promise to abide with his Church, is the pledge of its final triumph.

The speakers who sustained these resolutions in eloquent remarks were:—Chancellor H. SEYMOUR, Esq., Philadelphia; Rt. Rev. Marvin C. Ballaway, Massachusetts; Revs. Dr. GUTHRIE, Microneesia; Rev. Dr. SHEDD, New-York City; Rev. Dr. EDDY, Chicago, Rev. Dr. EZZLE, Brooklyn.

At the business meeting, previous to the public exercises, the following managers were reelected: George D. Phelps, James L. Phelps, M. D., Chas. Tracy, G. P. Disosway, James Suydam, A. Robertson Walsh, Alfred Edwards, Alexander Van Rensselaer, Jonathan Sturges. An interesting address was delivered by Rev. Mr. SAUL, of the Southwestern Bible Society, which institution was represented to be in a flourishing condition.

Abstract of the Report of the American and Foreign Christian Union.

The American and Foreign Christian Union has Missions in the United States, South America, Mexico, Sweden, Belgium, France, Italy and Greece.

The missions in the United States are among the French, German, Italians and Irish Catholics, and confined principally to the great cities. In South America there are three Mission Stations, and the missionaries have been doing a good work. In Mexico, there is a Station at Matamoras. In Peru and Brazil they hope during the year to supply the places of those missionaries who have left. In Belgium, they aid a native Home Missionary Society in supporting fifty laborers, with forty-five churches, and 15,000 attendants, where, in 1835, hardly a Protestant could be found. In France, as in Belgium, the funds go into the treasuries of native Missionary Societies. They aid three, "The Central Protestant Society of Paris," "The Evangelical Society of France" and "The Evangelical Church of Lyons," which is also a Missionary Society. These employ in France about 170 laborers. In Sweden they have one Missionary, Rev. Mr. ROSENIUS. In Italy Rev. E. E. HALE is the Missionary agent at Florence, directing their work, and employing, for the whole or a part of the year, twenty laborers—double the number of the previous year. During the season of Lent he hired a large room, and secured the services of GAVAZZI, who preached for the forty days in succession to crowds of people. In Greece they have commenced a mission in Athens. The missionary, Rev. GEORGE CONSTANTINE, is a native Greek, educated in this country, and entered upon his labors with good prospects. In the same city they have aided Dr. KALOPOTHAKES, also a native Greek educated in this country, and for the last four years publishing a paper in Athens called The Star of the East. There are also two American chapels, one at Paris and one at Florence—the first under the care of Rev. Dr. MCCLINTOCK, the last under Rev. Mr. HALE. Since the last Anniversary they have sent out three missionaries: one to Belgium, Rev. Mr. BAXENDY, a native of Holland, educated in this country, and connected with the Reformed Dutch Church. One to Italy, Rev. Mr. MOORHEAD, connected with the United Presbyterian Church. He is so far advanced in the Italian language that he expects soon to go to Sienna to make trial of its climate. 3d. Rev. GEO. CONSTANTINE and Mrs. CONSTANTINE, to Athens, Greece.

Methodist Lay Convention.

The Methodist Episcopal Convention met again Thursday morning. Rev. Mr. COX, of St. Louis, conducted the religious exercises. A letter was read from Gov. EVANS, of Colorado Territory, expressing a desire for the success of the movement.

Dr. CURRAN, of Jeffersonville, Ind., said he would not occupy the Convention with any arguments in favor of lay representation. He could only inform them of the favor with which this movement was entertained in the neighborhood from which he came. The Methodist people throughout the West and Northwest were strongly in favor of the lay representation movement.

Mr. S. L. McCOMBS said that the state of the country was such as to justify them in giving some expression of their loyalty to the Government. [Applause.] He referred to what had been done on that subject by the Ministry in the various conferences. He moved that the Committee on Resolutions be instructed to prepare a resolution expressive of the loyalty and attachment of the Convention to the United States Government.

The motion was carried.

Rev. R. M. HATFIELD also spoke in favor of the reform sought for.

A series of resolutions, indicating the propriety of lay representation, was then read.

Judge BOND, of Baltimore, next addressed the Convention in eloquent language, urging the reform of lay representation, on the ground that it was demanded by the interests of the Church. The interests of the ministry demanded it also, and he trusted that the brethren would see no difficulty in the way of asking that the representation sought should be equal.

Addresses in reference to the propriety of using the word "equal" instead of suitable, in the resolutions were made by C. C. LEMOS, Prof. ADAMS, of Girard College, Philadelphia, Mr. BOND, Mr. CRUMMINS, and others.

Rev. LEONARD BACON, D. D., of the Congregational Church, New-Haven, was announced as being present, and the Convention rose to receive him.

Mr. WILSON, of Newark, said he was in favor of asking the General Conference for what they meant, nothing more, nothing less. They wanted equal representation, and nothing less would be suitable. He was opposed to all measures of expediency. Expediency was dangerous. It lashed as if something else was wanted. Let us take the highest ground of loyalty to our country—to God—to humanity.

FRIDAY, MAY 15—P. M.

There was a further and very general advance in the Stock Market to-day. The orders to the Commission Brokers increase in magnitude from day to day, and limits as to price are also enlarged in order to insure their prompt execution. Early in the day the discrimination was in favor of several of the old established Railways, which had not previously moved upward with marked spirit, like New-York Central, Rock Island and Erie preferred. All these were advanced from 2 to 3 ⅌ cent. each. But later in the day the orders to buy took a much wider range, and at the General Board the excitement exceeded anything of the kind we have yet reported, in the general high range of the bidding. After the printed list, but before the Brokers left their room, there was a partial abatement in prices. The extreme advance on the best rates of yesterday was 4½ ⅌ cent. on Erie; 5½ ⅌ cent. on New-York Central; 2½ ⅌ cent. on Rock Island; 3 ⅌ cent. on Reading; 4 ⅌ cent. on Harlem and Harlem preferred; 3 on North West; 2 on Erie preferred; 3 on Missouri 6 ⅌ cents; 6 on Mississippi and Missouri Land Grants; 3½ on Galena; 4 on Michigan Central; 3 on Hudson River; 2 on Michigan guaranteed; 2 on Toledo and Wabash second mortgages, and 2 on Pacific Mail.

At 4 o'clock the following prices were made as compared with Thursday night, the figures being, in nearly all instances, below the best sales of the day, but with no decided eagerness to press contracts at the decline. Government Stocks and Treasury paper are steady, on the investment demand, and the subscriptions in this City to the New Loan of 1862, by the conversion of United States Currency, amount to $1,140,300. The whole subscriptions of yesterday, through the Loan Agent of the Treasury, Mr. JAY COOKE, of Philadelphia, reached $2,750,000. Only 45 days remain to the privilege of converting at par into this deservedly popular Loan. The income which it pays to the holder in Gold Coin at the present premium on Gold, is equal to 9 ⅌ cent. ⅌ annum. At the last hour the general market was firm again, and prices tending upward:

The price of Gold Coin has scarcely varied ¼ ⅌ cent. to-day. The closing sales at the Second regular Board were at 150 ⅌ cent. The entire registered transactions at this Board, first and second sessions, amount to only $52,000. The Street speculation is also tame. Exchange on London rather less firm than yesterday, at 164½@165¼; principal sales of Bankers at 166 ⅌ cent. Money in good employment among the Brokers of the Stock Exchange at 6 ⅌ cent.

The advance in the City Bank Stocks keeps up, and there is a much larger demand at the Stock Board than bidders are inclined to supply:

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

Official advices from Gen. GRANT to the 8th inst. have been received in Washington. He expresses himself as satisfied with the condition of affairs in his vicinity. His satisfaction seems to be justified by the tone of a rebel letter from Vicksburgh, published in the Jackson Appeal, which takes a gloomy view of affairs, and says that Gen. GRANT's movement has deceived the rebels, both civil and military. Our dispatches by way of Cairo state that our troops, all the way from Memphis to Young's Point, are moving to reinforce Gen. GRANT, who will endeavor to cut the railroad between Vicksburgh and Jackson, and who expects to fight a battle in the vicinity of the Big Black River Bridge. He has also notified the War Department that Port Hudson is undoubtedly evacuated, except by a small garrison and the heavy artillery. The greater portion of the troops recently there have probably been withdrawn for the defence of Jackson, and for cooperation with the Vicksburgh garrison.

A rebel dispatch from Jackson, Miss., dated the 11th, states that 1,000 of Gen. GRANT's cavalry had that day entered and burnt Chrystal Springs, on the New-Orleans and Jackson Railroad. This place is 26 miles south of Jackson.

Charleston dispatches of the 12th inst. report our forces active in that vicinity. They are said to have built formidable batteries on Folly Island, bearing on the southern extremity of Morris Island. Several regiments are said to be also fortifying Seabrook Island.

A recently written rebel letter gives the following as the position of the army confronting Gen. ROSECRANS: "Our right rests at McMinnville, and the line extends thence westward by Manchester, Wartrall and Shelbyville, to Columbia. It forms the arc of a large circle, curving slightly toward the south, while the rear extends as far south as Estell Springs. Our right bank is protected by Elk Creek, Gany Fork with its numerous tributaries, the abrupt peaks of the Cumberland Mountains, and several thousand daring, dashing cavaliers and the chivalric, impetuous JOHN MORGAN. Our left is sheltered by Duck River and by the bravery and vigilance of Gen. VAN DORN and his devoted followers."

The Richmond Sentinel of the 12th contains a dispatch from Jackson, Miss., of the 11th, saying that the Natchez Courier professes to have information that Gen. KIRBY SMITH, at the head of 10,000 raw troops, has beaten Gen. BANKS badly, driving him out of Washington, La. This information, however, comes in too roundabout a manner to be regarded as reliable.

We learn from the Army of the Potomac that the estimates of our loss in the late battles are greatly reduced. It is thought the aggregate will not reach 11,000.

Information has been received by Gen. HEINTZELMAN, that MOSEBY has 300 men at Goose Creek, and 500 at Upperville, in the Shenandoah Valley. He meditates a raid, probably upon the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad. Meanwhile he will gather whatever supplies and forage he can scrape together in that not-quite-yet-exhausted region.

The rebel raiders in Western Virginia, perhaps a thousand or two strong, are still hanging about Gilmer, Wirt and adjoining counties, plundering a little and moving out of the country what they have already stolen. They appear to be doing pretty much as they please, and nobody seems to know anything as to their future designs.

The Washington Star states that the last lot of rebel prisoners sent South from that city were accompanied by fourteen females, who had been in confinement in the Old Capitol. Among them were Mrs. MITCHELL and her two daughters, arrested by Gen. ROSECRANS for persistently aiding and abetting the escape of rebel prisoners; also, a woman who had served for some months as a rebel sergeant of cavalry—a regular bruiser—and the noted Miss FOAN, of Fairfax County, Va., arrested for participation in MOSEBY's abduction of Gen. STOUGHTON, &c. Miss FOAN's behavior while a prisoner was so entirely modest and correct as to make friends for her of all whose duties were about the Old Capitol, and to impress them with the conviction that Gen. STUART's commission, appointing her as one of his Aides-de-camp, which was found with her when arrested, was but a joke on the part of all concerned in it.

Gen. BURNSIDE was in Washington on Thursday in consultation with the President and Secretary of War, precisely with reference to the disposition of VALLANDIGHAM.

Brig.-Gen. WILD, with his Staff, sailed from this port yesterday for Newbern, to organize a negro brigade.

GENERAL NEWS.

An adjourned meeting of the New-York Produce Exchange was held, yesterday, JAMES T. WALLACE in the Chair, to adopt measures for facilitating communication between the Great West and the Atlantic seaboard. A series of resolutions was offered by Gen. ΙΩΔΗΣ.

OF ALL REMEDIAL AGENTS, IODINE stands preeminent. The amount of ability, zeal and assiduity which has been devoted to the elucidation of its effects upon the

has not been exceeded in the instance of any other article in Materia Medica, and it is acknowledged to possess very great powers in the cure of many obstinate diseases, over which other remedies have little or no influence.

Iodine was discovered in the year 1811, and received its name from the Greek word which heads this article. It is an elementary body, obtained from seaweed, is very volatile, and has great control over

SCROFULOUS AFFECTIONS.

It acts upon the

HEART,
LIVER, KIDNEYS,
DIGESTIVE ORGANS AND GLANDULAR SYSTEM.

It neutralizes metallic mercury and all the mercurial compounds that can possibly occur in the living body.

THE TONIC

operation of Iodine is evinced by its strengthening the digestive organs and increasing the appetite. In cases of Dyspepsia, Emaciation and Debility, an increased nutrition of the body is the result of the employment of Iodine. The patient recovers flesh, strength and color; hitherto pale, relaxed and feeble, he becomes full, strong and florid.

The unparalleled success in private practice and the indorsement of

enables us to recommend

IODINE WATER.

A solution of pure Iodine in pure water, as a specific for the cure of Scrofula in all its manifold forms, Consumption, Cancer, Heart, Liver and Kidney Diseases, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Nervous Affections, Female Weaknesses, Dyspepsia, Syphilis and the only remedy for the successful eradication of Mercurial Disease.

Its genuineness as a pure solution, and its excellence as a medicine, are attested by Dr. Chilton, Prof. Parker, Prof. Booth, Dr. Whitney, and others equally known in science.

DEAFNESS

NOISES IN THE HEAD,

Diseases of the Eye, Ear & Throat,

CATARRH CURED

BY

DR. VON EISENBERG.

Author of "Surgical and Practical Observations on the Diseases of the Ear, with his new Mode of Treatment."

NEW TESTIMONY.

NEW-YORK, May 6.

I was entirely deaf in my left ear, accompanied by a discharge. I placed myself under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S care, who, by his great skill, restored me to perfect hearing, in the short space of a few minutes, without giving me the slightest pain, and the discharge has ceased entirely. The Eustachian Tube, which was obliterated, is quite open, and I feel that the air-passage performs its functions. I am amply satisfied, and recommend every one suffering from impaired hearing to place themselves under the treatment of this eminent and successful physician.

THOMAS GRAMLY, No. 236 6th-av.

NEW-YORK, May 6, 1863.

I have great pleasure in testifying to the skill of Dr. VON EISENBERG. I went into his office almost completely deaf, and came out with my perfect hearing. It is nearly twelve months since, and the hearing is perfect. The operation, which lasted two or three minutes in each of my ears, gave me no pain whatsoever. I with confidence recommend all sufferers to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG'S unsurpassing skill.

SAMUEL C. HUNT,
No. 6 Montague-st., Greenpoint, L. I.

WEST HOUSTON-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 6, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noises in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

I consulted Dr. Von Eisenberg, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. Von Eisenberg to acknowledge that I am entirely cured, also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an enviable reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 26, 1862.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time afflicted with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and running noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. Von Eisenberg removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with congealed blood, restoring her instantaneously, and all without pain. His rare skill deserves the best I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 37 South-st.

No. 10 Monroe-st., New-York.

J. E. VON EISENBERG, M. D.—Dear Doctor: I have been afflicted with total deafness, and was induced to try your's kind. He was the longest and most difficult cure, after one operation, my hearing was suddenly, and without pain, restored to me, for which I feel very grateful. After being totally deaf—almost dead—from the going off of cotton or something of a nature to have it extracted, and to hear so distinctly, reflects great credit on you for the number and extent of skill you possess. I am, dear sir, your friend and servant.

EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.

READ.

NEW-YORK, March 20, 1863.

This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head, that was most completely removed, and my hearing improved by continued courses of the throat, the chills creeping over my shoulders, and the pain in the forehead, the gum and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. Von Eisenberg, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to tell my numerous friends that I am entirely cured. I feel as elevated character, and who will promote the important interests consigned him.

A general rather than a particular description is all that can here be attempted regarding this beautiful boat. Suffice it to say she is built by Messrs. John Ericsson & Son, is 700 tons burden, 220 feet in length, 36 feet beam, 9 feet hold, and is propelled by a beam-engine from the Allaire Works, containing a 54-inch cylinder, and 11 feet stroke, with side-wheels 9 feet face, and 35 feet diameter. She is furnished with 44 first-class staterooms in her upper hall, and is well provisioned and berths below stairs—in short, offering for a steamer of her character liberal and delightful accommodations.

It is but proper to say in this connection that in the general arrangement and equipment of all the steamers of this line, a just appreciation of the efficiency of those gentlemen composing the Board of Direction, and especially of that gentleman selected from their number upon whose shoulders reposes the general management of the line, cannot be too highly entertained; and passengers are daily waiving the slight inconveniences of early, early rising in going East, as they take into consideration the unusual comforts have afforded on board steamers and cars, respectively.

Passengers for Boston and the East leave daily at 8 P. M. from Pier No. 20 North River, by steamers CITY OF NEW-LONDON, Capt. Smith, on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays; and CITY OF BOSTON, Capt. Wilcox, on alternate days.

Due notice will be given of the readiness of the CITY OF NEW-YORK.

EDWARD H. DIXON, M. D., EDITOR OF "The Scalpel," and Operating and Consulting Surgeon, No. 443 Sth-av. Office consultations on the more obscure diseases of the pelvic viscera. Rupture, piles, varicocele, and fistula, radically cured without the knife or ligature. Office hours from 8 to 9, 1 to 3 and 7 to 8 evenings. Consultation fee $5.

UP-TOWN MILLINERY.—MRS. E. S. JANES, No. 1,345 Broadway, between 51st and 52d sts., has just opened a choice assortment of lace and straw bonnets, children's hats, ribbons, flowers, &c. Also, mourning bonnets at lowest cash prices.

IRON IN THE HUMAN SYSTEM.

IRON IN THE HUMAN SYSTEM.

IRON IN THE HUMAN SYSTEM.

IRON IN THE HUMAN SYSTEM.

IRON IN THE HUMAN SYSTEM.

The principal vital force in the human system is the iron contained in the blood. This is derived chiefly from the food we eat; but if the food is not properly digested, or if from any cause whatever the necessary quantity of iron is not taken into the circulation, the whole system suffers. The bad blood will irritate the heart, will clog up the lungs, will stupify the brain, will obstruct the liver, and send its disease-producing elements into all parts of the system, and every one will suffer in whatever organ may be predisposed to disease. The great value of is well known and acknowledged by all medical men. The difficulty has been to obtain such a preparation of it as will enter the circulation, and assimilate at once with the blood. This point, says Dr. Hayes, Massachusetts State chemist, has been obtained in the Peruvian Syrup.

BY COMBINATION IN A WAY BEFORE UNKNOWN,

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP

THE PERUVIAN SYRUP

is a protected solution of

THE PROTOXIDE OF IRON, and STRIKES AT THE ROOT of disease by supplying the blood with its

LIFE ELEMENT—IRON.

This is the secret of the wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Aversion, Chronic Diarrhœa, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Rumors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all Diseases originating in a bad state of the Blood, or accompanied by

LOW STATE

OF

THE SYSTEM.

To take medicine to cure diseases occasioned by a deficiency of without restoring it to the system, is like trying to repair a building when the foundation is gone.

The proofs of the efficacy of this remedy, in THOUSANDS OF CASES where ordinary medicines have failed to give relief, are so well established that invalids cannot reasonably hesitate to give it a trial.

For a SPRING MEDICINE it has no equal.

CERTIFICATES.

This is to certify that, about eighteen months ago, I commenced using Buchanan's Ambrosia. My hair was short, thin, and rapidly falling out, I had tried many Hair Tonics, Invigorators, &c., without receiving any benefit. Soon after using the Ambrosia, my hair ceased falling out, and commenced growing so rapidly as to astonish me. Now, my hair is thick, soft and glossy, and is five feet four inches in length—two feet longer, reaching to the floor. This wonderful result I attribute solely to the use of STERLING'S AMBROSIA, as since I commenced using it I have applied nothing else to my hair.

PURE BLOOD CURES.—WHEN THE BILE has not the requisite healthy qualities, we become costive. To restore the bile to a state of health, the blood must be purified. You cannot purify the blood but by occasional purgatives, and they should be continued for several days in succession; then there may be a greater or less interval of rest. Some persons have used BRANDRETH'S Pills every day in small doses until they became cured of costiveness, which had haunted them for over twenty years. The use of this medicine does not habitate or require an increase of dose from continued use. They in fact strengthen the bowels, as exercise does the arms or legs.

DANIEL J. TERRY, of Astor House, New-York, cured himself of costiveness of ten years standing by their use alone.

Mr. COOK, Editor of Democratic Banner, Bennington, Vt., cured of costiveness and dyspepsia by BRANDRETH'S Pills, when all other medicines had failed, and when his doctors pronounced him incurable.

Mr. BLISS, of Rushwick, cured of debility and costiveness by BRANDRETH'S Pills, when he despaired of ever regaining his health.

Remember references will be given to persons whom BRANDRETH'S Pills have cured of costiveness of over twenty years' duration, and in cases where no natural action of the bowels had taken place in twenty years.

AT A MEETING OF THE CLASS OF 1840, New-York Free Academy, held May 12, 1863, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, By the death of Lieut. FRANKLIN B. CROSBY, of the Fourth United States Artillery, killed at the battle of Chancellorsville, on the 3d of May, 1863, we lose another classmate; and

Whereas, We deem it our duty to honor true manliness and Christian virtue, and to bear our testimony to their exhibitions; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in FRANKLIN B. CROSBY we lost a classmate who, as a scholar, reflected honor on us in the past, and would have continued so to do by his ability, his learning, and the success he was certain to attain in that profession from the study of which he was pulled by the demands of a patriotism to which his life was a sacrifice; a friend, warm, trusted and beloved; a man who, carrying his Christian principles, without pretension, into all the relations of his life, was modest, energetic and true; and

Resolved, That in his answer, given shortly before his death, at the post of duty—"I command it to stay, Sir, and intend to command it"—and in such death, we recognize the same modest energy and decision, and the same enduring loyalty to duty which characterized his whole life, and led him, at his country's call, to relinquish the luxuries of home, a dear family, many warm friends, and a future of happiness, success and ease, for the hardships and isolation of the camp and the uncertainties of battle. That in his last words, "I die contented," we have an unnecessary proof of his sincerity and an assurance that he has "fought the good fight, and gone to reap the rewards of a Christian life; and

Resolved, That we hereby express our sorrow at the loss the community, army and our country have sustained in an upright citizen, a man and an honest and loyal soldier, and we pay an honor and honored a classmate and friend. And, be it further

Resolved, That we offer his family and friends our sympathies, hoping that as we are in common deeply grieved at his loss, so we may in common find in his virtues

AUCTION SALES.

EXECUTOR'S SALE.

THE UNDERSIGNED, AS EXECUTOR OF W. EMILE FIELD, deceased, will, in order to close the estate, sell at public auction, on SATURDAY, the 20th day of May, 1863, at 11 o'clock A. M., at the dwelling-house on the premises, in the village of Peekskill, the real estate of the said Field usually known as the CAPT. REQUA FARM, situated near the flourishing village of Peekskill, on the Hudson River, the first stopping place of Railroad Express trains North. The place consists of about

TWO HUNDRED ACRES OF FERTILE LAND, on which is a great variety of fruit and shade-trees, and abounds in

ELIGIBLE BUILDING SITES,

with unsurpassed views of the Bay, Highlands and surrounding country.

It is believed that for the number of its beautiful locations, the excellence of its soil, its proximity to schools and churches, conveniences to the River and Railroad, and the extent, variety and beauty of its prospect, this property presents inducements for purchase which are rarely offered.

The property is well adapted for division, being already intersected by avenues, and will be sold in parcels to suit purchasers on accommodating terms. The executor, before the day of public sale, will sell at private sale any portion that may be desired.

For information as to the property, apply to THOMAS NELSON, Esq., No. 85 Liberty-st.; ISAAC SEYMOUR, President of the Bank of North America, No. 44 Wall-st.; D. F. CLAPP, Cashier of Westchester County Bank, Peekskill; or to the subscriber, at Croton Landing.

CYRUS PROST, Executor.

D. M. SEAMAN, AUCTIONEER, HAS received to No. 14 Pine-st., where he will give, as heretofore, SPECIAL ATTENTION TO THE PURCHASE AND SALE OF INSURANCE AND BANK STOCKS at private sale. Also, to AUCTION SALES of Stocks, Real Estate, &c., on liberal terms.

D. M. SEAMAN, Auctioneer,
No. 14 Pine-st.
(Late with Adrian H. Muller.)

SCRANTON COAL AT AUCTION.

OFFICE OF THE DELAWARE, LACKAWANNA AND WESTERN RAILROAD CO., No. 26 WILLIAM-ST.,
NEW-YORK, May 11, 1863.

In continuation of the quarterly monthly auction sales, this Company will offer, at public auction, on WEDNESDAY, 20th day of May, 1863, at 12 o'clock noon, at the room now used as the Merchants' Exchange, Nos. 52 and 54 Exchange-place, corner of William-st., by SIMEON DEANE, Auctioneer,

THIRTY THOUSAND TONS OF FRESH MINED SCRANTON COAL, embracing all the usual sizes, and deliverable at their depot, Elizabethport, N. J., after the 1st of June next. They will request such auction sales to be about the 20th of each month, during the year 1863.

The sale will be conducted as follows:—Each lot parcel will be sold to the highest bidder; no bids, in any form whatever, to be made for account of, or on behalf of the Company.

Fifty cents per ton, in bankable funds, to be paid at the time and place of sale, and the balance in like funds, on receiving the order for the coal, which must be called for within 10 days thereafter, and the coal taken away within 30 days from the date of the business; navigation, allowing 30 days for taking the delivery of their purchase, by making a further deposit of 50 cents per ton, within 15 days above specified. Interest, at 7 per cent. per annum, will be charged against the purchaser, from the time stipulated for payment until paid; and 25 cents per ton to cover the expense of stocking the coal—both to be paid on delivery of order.

The other conditions of sale will be determined by those hitherto accepted for all the private contracts of coal deliverable at Elizabethport, so far as applicable. The coal will be delivered direct from the cars on their arrival from the mines, when practicable—otherwise from the stock. These conditions will be modified to meet the wants of steam-boatmen, whose arrival cannot be definitely fixed.

With a reliable avenue from the Lackawanna and Wyoming Valleys to tide-water, open every day in the year (Sundays excepted), requiring but 12 hours for the transit of its trains, the advantages of such sales, and the superior condition in which the coal will be delivered, are so apparent, that cannot doubt this mode of selling will commend itself to the favorable consideration of both the trade and consumers, whose cooperation is respectfully invited.

C. H. ROBERT, President.

QUARTERMASTER-GENERAL'S OFFICE, WASHINGTON CITY, March 19, 1863.

OWNERS OF STEAM VESSELS ARE INvited to send to the Quartermaster-General's Office tonnage tenders, during the month of April.

Senders should contain descriptions of the vessels, their dimensions, enrolled or registered tonnage, actual carrying capacity, material, whether copper-fastened, whether side or propellers, whether iron or copper-fastened, if iron, of what kind, and the highest and lowest rates at which they are offered, for long or short charter, with the estimated value of the vessel in case of loss, or in case the Government should prefer to purchase instead of chartering.

Tenders for steamers or sailing vessels already in the service of the Quartermaster's Department are requested to make known to the Department any reduction in their present rates which they may be willing to grant, and also the price at which they will be willing to sell them.

Tenders should be addressed to the Quartermaster-General of the United States at Washington, and should be indorsed:

"Proposals for charter or sale of steamers."

When recommendations will be considered, and the Department will endeavor to reduce the heavy expense attending army transportation, upon the ocean and tide-waters, by substituting, wherever it can do so, cheaper vessels of equal capacity for those now employed.

ANNIVERSARIES.

NEW-YORK HISTORICAL SOCIETY.
THE BRADFORD COMMEMORATION.

THE NEW-YORK HISTORICAL SOCIETY proposes to commemorate, on its Two Hundreth Anniversary, the birthday of WILLIAM BRADFORD, who introduced the art of Printing into the Middle Colonies of America, on Friday, the 20th of May, 1693, and died in 1752, aged 89 years. The address will be delivered by JOHN WILLIAM WALLACE, Esq., of Philadelphia, at the Hall of the Union Game Institute, in the City of New-York, on WEDNESDAY EVENING, the 20th of May, at 8 o'clock. Members of the Society will receive, by mail, on Monday morning, two single tickets of admission, which must be applied for at the Library, or at 60 Col. Warner, No. 365 Broadway, on or before Monday, the 18th inst.

Members of the Press and veteran printers, and any descendants of William Bradford, who may be present in the City, are requested to make themselves known to the Committee, in order that they may be duly invited to attend.

The Society will hold a reception at the Library, on Thursday evening, May 21, at 8 o'clock. Members who wish to secure invitations to the reception, must apply as above immediately, as the number will be limited to the strictly fitting, and they will be issued in the order of application until exhausted.

The Corporation of Trinity Church, of which William Bradford was a vestryman, from 1702 to 1710, have provided the Society with a special service, to be held in memory of Bradford, and a special service will be held on the occasion, immediately after evening prayer at the church, on Wednesday afternoon, May 20, at 5 o'clock. The members of the society and their guests are invited to participate in the services, unless the weather shall prove unfavorable, in which event the service will take place at the same hour on the following day.

WHAT SHALL BE DONE WITH THE NEGRO?

A Lecture by Frederick Douglass.

The Brooklyn Academy of Music was filled to repletion last evening by an audience of ladies and gentlemen, assembled to hear the colored orator, FREDERICK DOUGLASS. The speaker was introduced by Postmaster LORCOM, and commenced by saying that the great question before the public at present was, "What shall be done with the negro?" The word negro had become the most frequent word in the language. Amid the conflict of opinion and the thunder and smoke of battle, the negro loome up, and will continue to do so until the question with regard to him is settled on the basis of justice. He proposed to argue to advocate the adoption of the negro into the family of the nation on terms of the most perfect equality as the only salvation of the country. The only way to secure peace to the nation was to do justice to the negro. He must not only be given freedom, but must be admitted to all the privileges of a citizen of the United States. Heretofore the negro had been regarded only as the means of putting money in the white man's pocket, like a bale of cotton, but hereafter he must be regarded and treated as a man. Under the past treatment of the negro we had been cowards, but the most abject servility from the North to the South; and what was our reward? Half a million of armed men were now arrayed at the throat of the Government, and threatening the destruction of the Republic. Having sacrificed 250,000 of our youths in bloody graves by this rebellion in the interest of Slavery, it was now time that we adopted a new policy. Under the old system, the golden rule "Do unto others as ye would that they should do unto you," had been found impracticable; the Declaration of Independence had been found impracticable; the Constitution had been found impracticable; even the worthless carcass of the Democratic party had been found impracticable, and the South had broken it up and destroyed it at Charleston. But what, is now asked, shall be done with the negro? There were three or four schemes put forth to settle this question. The first was to reduce all black men to Slavery throughout the entire country, and enact laws to make the system uniform. But the trouble with this plan was that it would create an aristocracy—a master who would wish to rule all, whether white or black, so that those who did not own slaves would be like the poor whites of the South—mere trash. The second scheme was to colonize them. This was a very pleasing scheme to a large number of people at the North, but it was like sending missionaries to the moon; it was easy to see what great good they would do when there, but the question was how to get them there. By the time this war was ended there would hardly be money enough left to pay their transportation. Besides, the great trouble has been in years past that there were not negroes enough at the South. They have now tried to relieve the Slave-trade for the sake of getting more. And they will need more than ever after the war. It had been said that the negro was lazy, and would not work. This has been the favorite talk even of slaveowners; but how happened it that all Europe was at the point of starvation the moment the industry of the negro was interrupted? Again, it was said that the day of reckoning of wrath would break out, and then the negro would be exterminated. There were men here enough to advocate this. Even in Brooklyn men had lately been driven from their work and mobbed, for no other reason than the color of their skin. The truth was, there was only one way of disposing of the question, and that was to admit the negro to full equality in political and civil rights. He did not wish to be misunderstood. He did not mean to insist on what is called "social equality," he did not know—in fact, he much doubted—if there were such a thing; certainly it had never been developed to his knowledge in history. If it were possible, he did not know but the negro would have as much to dread from it as he white man. Thus far, in the history of this country, the negro has groped about amongst us unseen—killed by Slavery in the South, smothered by prejudice in the North; but he was still a man, with aspirations, feelings, courage, hopes, desires. He was not an animal. The laws enacted about him showed that. It is not necessary to pass laws to prevent horses from feeding. Congress lately came near passing a law that the negro should never be equal to the white man; thus showing that there was a possibility that he might become so. A great deal was said about the negro intermarrying with the white. He did not ask the Government to regulate this matter, it would regulate itself, all the negro asked was equality before the law. But it was said that the Constitution opposed this. They might be surprised to be told that not one in ten of the white citizens of the United States ever read the Constitution. They are not aware that the word slave is not in it. WENDELL PHILLIPS had said the other day that WM. H. SEWARD refused to give a passport to a negro. That could be explained from the fact that Mr. SEWARD was a lawyer, and knew perfectly well that the Constitution does not know the word negro. He gave passports to American citizens, not to Irishmen, Germans or negroes. The speaker knew Mr. SEWARD well, and there was no man freer from prejudice against color than him. The Constitution had been tortured ever since the formation of the Government, to MAKE IT mean what it did not say, and what its framers never intended it should say—all for the protection of slavery. Lastly came the old argument that the negro was an inferior race. If this were true, it would be a mean and blasphemous apology for enslaving him. When a man is on crutches, give him a kick. This was the apology for despotism the world over; the same used by us against the Mexicans, by the Russians against the Turks, by the English against the Irish. And, speaking of the Irish, he was amazed at their conduct here. There was no more generous, warm-hearted, hospitable people at home than the Irish; none who treated oppression and tyranny with a deeper hatred. He never had been treated more kindly than in Ireland; never had his good opinion of human nature more exalted and strengthened than in that Green Isle. And he never could understand how it was that when the Irish get to this country they become the most cruel, the meanest, and most vindictive of all the oppressors of his race. He could not account for it except on the principle that when a man gets suddenly rich he becomes more purse-proud and overbearing than if he were born to riches. Still he believed the Irish would yet become the warmest friends of the negro. There was a remarkable analogy in the history of the two races. Two hundred years ago the Irish were almost as badly persecuted for their religion as the negro is now for his color. When the bastile of Slavery is demolished all this prejudice will cease. When the white race begin to do justice to the negro then they begin to love them. The negro loves the white man and is going to stay with him; he is not going to die out as many think; he does not belong to the die out race; he will rather die in. He must remain with the whites—even as slaves, if not as freemen; but it were better for you as for him that he be free than slave. And since this must be so, is it not better that he become a free and equal citizen before the law, than that he be an outcast, vicious and criminal? The speaker closed by alluding to the Fifty-fourth regiment Massachusetts Volunteers, (colored,) in which he said he had two sons, and which he expected soon to see march down Broadway, keeping step to the music of "Old John Brown." When the negro got fairly into this war, the end of the rebellion might be looked for. One thing was certain: they would not be in haste to get captured for the sake of being exchanged.

The address of Mr. DOUGLASS was listened to with great interest, and was repeatedly interrupted by laughter and applause.

THE RETURNING REGIMENTS.

Arrival of the Eighteenth New-York Volunteers.

The above regiment returned from the seat of war yesterday. Two years ago they left the State with over 900 men; they came back numbering 300. The regiment was raised by Col. JACKSON, late Inspector-General of the State, and, after his death, was commanded by Col. YOUNG, who resigned. The regiment is now in command of Col. MEANS. Temporary accommodations were provided for the troops at the Park barracks. After partaking of a dinner they marched to the Hudson River Railroad depot, and took the cars for Albany.

Returning Troops in Albany.

ALBANY, Friday, May 15.

The Third and Fourteenth Regiments arrived to-day. After refreshments at the Delavan House they marched to the Capital Park, and were addressed by the Governor, who thanked them in the name of the People for the heroic manner in which they had maintained the reputation of the State in the battlefield. They are quartered at the barracks, their muster rolls not yet being ready.

The Twenty-eighth regiment reached here at 8 P. M., and marched direct to the barracks.

Arrivals in the City.

Gen. E. H. Stoughton, who has been in Washington for the past few days, arrived in this City at an early hour yesterday morning. He is at the Albemarle Hotel, awaiting orders from the War Department.

Gov. Blair, of Michigan; Dr. Kennedy and family, of Roxbury; Lieut.-Col. Horton and Dr. F. T. Dale, of the U. S. army; Jas. Gamble, of San Francisco, and John F. Coyl, of Washington, are at the Metropolitan Hotel.

Hon. Alfred Ely, Rochester; Homer Ramsdell, Newburgh; Capt. James Bloomfield, Montreal; and Wm. F. Burden, Troy, are at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Commodore Frailey, U. S. Navy; Mrs. Gen. Palmer and family, Newbern, N. C.; Capt. Hutchins, Hilton Head, S. C.; Col. Felix Confort, Missouri Battery; and Col. George E. Myers, Eighteenth N. Y. Vols., are at the Astor House.

Hon. A. Boody, of Rochester; Jno. F. Seymour, of Utica; Robt. Parker, of Delhi; N. Randall, of Syracuse; Nicholas Apgonne, of Havana; and Walter Harper, of Washington, are at the St. Nicholas Hotel.

John G. Pardon, Esq., is at the Clarendon Hotel.

The members of the Common Council Committee from Washington City left the Metropolitan Hotel yesterday afternoon on their return home.

Capt. Cortlandt Van Rensselaer.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Capt. CORTLANDT VAN RENSSELAER, son of the late Rev. CORTLANDT VAN RENSSELAER, of Burlington, N. J., is indeed one of the most meritorious officers in our army. It is due, however, to the Lieut.-Colonel VAN RENSSELAER, who was dismissed the army, to say, that the President, upon a review of the proceedings of the Court-martial, has remitted the sentence, and that Gen. SARGENT has, or will restore him to his command.

The offense charged was that he allowed the men of his company to shoot six geese upon a farm adjacent to his quarters. Lieut. VAN RENSSELAER's defence was that he allowed the men to go to the farm and purchase a sheep. In all other respects the record of Lieut. VAN RENSSELAER is a good one, and it is evident that in this particular he was blameless. Lieut. VAN RENSSELAER is a grandson of Judge G. W. BACKUS, of Seneca Falls. T. W.

Vallandigham.

CINCINNATI, Friday, May 15.

Judge LEAVITT renders the decision in the Vallandigham habeas corpus case to-morrow. It is understood that Gen. BURNSIDE will announce the disposition to be made of VALLANDIGHAM as soon as Judge LEAVITT's decision is made known.

The report that Gen. BURNSIDE was at Washington yesterday, consulting the President, is untrue.

Strike Among Laborers.

BUFFALO, Friday, May 15.

The strike among the stevedores and laborers has ended. The employers have acceded to the terms, $1 50 per day.

A Break in the Canal.

ALBANY, Friday, May 15.

A break in the canal occurred near Hoffman's Ferry to-day. It will be repaired by morning. The Auditor is also advised of a bad slide at Fultonville.

SKILLFUL SURGICAL OPERATION.—The operation of recto-vesical lithotomy was performed for the first time successfully in New-York, on Monday, by EDWARD H. DIXON, M. D., in presence of a number of our surgeons and physicians. The patient was Mr. GEORGE LOW, of Muscatine, Iowa. He had been afflicted with the disease for thirty-seven years. Peculiar interest attached to this case, from the fact that the stone, from its long presence in the base of the bladder, had sunk downward, and formed for itself a sack, and protruded into the bowel, making, as it were, two separate bladders. No instrument could be introduced to guide the knife, in the usual way of operating, from the fact that the large size of the stone made pressure upon the urethra. All had to depend upon the skill of the surgeon, and his knowledge of the anatomy of the parts. In less time, a minute, the stone lay on the table, undergoing the surgical scrutiny of the gentlemen who were present. It will gratify Mr. Low's friends to know that his condition is very comfortable, and there is no doubt of his complete recovery, and surgeons will find a new resource for a complicated disease in this rare operation.—Tribune.

LECTURE IN WILLIAMSBURGH.—"The War, and its Influence on Commerce, Education, Religion, and the duties it imposes on the Citizen," is the subject of a series of Sunday evening discourses by Rev. R. PETERS, in the Universalist Church, corner of South Third and Fourth streets, Williamsburgh. The second lecture of the course, "The Influence of the War on Religion," will be delivered to-morrow evening. Mr. PETERS is one of the most devoted Unionists in the Brooklyn pulpit, and has been outspoken in his advocacy of the rights of the Government, and the atrocity of the rebellion from its incipiency to the present time; and is now, in this series of lectures, inculcating the most patriotic views, and giving Copperheadism some of the severest thrusts it meets with.

YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.—Rev. E. N. KIRK, D. D., of Boston, will preach a sermon before the New-York Young Men's Christian Association on Sunday evening at 7½ o'clock, in the Dutch Reformed Church, West Twenty-third-street, (Rev. Mr. GARDIN, pastor.)

CARD.

DRS. R. AND J. HUNTER, PHYSICIANS FOR AFFECTIONS OF THROAT AND LUNGS.

Office No. 832 Broadway. Hours of consultation 9 A. M. to 5 P. M.

Drs. R. & J. HUNTER devote their whole attention to the treatment of Affections or Diseases of the Throat, Lungs and Heart. In applying their undivided efforts to this important specialty in medicine, they have been stimulated to act not only by the calm indifference with which general practitioners regarded the terrible mortality and suffering attending Throat and Lung Diseases, but also by the remarkable success which followed the direct and local treatment so largely advocated and practiced by Drs. HUNTER years since.

It is but just to remind the people of New-York, that during those years when the practice of Drs. HUNTER was so great as to break down their own health by the close office confinement incident thereto, the mortality from Consumption, as shown by the City Inspector's books, diminished upward of thirty per cent. Such facts as these defy cavil.

In reestablishing the practice again in New-York, Drs. HUNTER are happy to be able to refer to many prominent citizens who retain the benefits they derived years ago from the direct treatment of their cases—in Catarrh, Bronchitis, Consumption, Asthma, &c., by inhalations and such other means as were prescribed for them on the principle of direct and local treatment. Many others of more recent experience can add their testimony in favor of the treatment. Drs. HUNTER think it right to direct attention to these facts as encouragement for those who may feel disposed to consult them, and whose condition of health requires their services.

II.

THE GENTLEMAN.

BY GEORGE H. CALVERT.

1 vol. 16mo. Cloth. Price 75 cts.

This work embodies a genial and philosophical definition and illustration of The Gentleman. Such a work, interesting and important at any time, is doubly welcomed at the present hour, when nothing can be more timely than the clear and emphatic exposition of the character of the Gentleman, as an incarnation of the justice, love, and honor, upon which rest the hop
